Presidential pearls

Well what a week to remember Rotary - on Wednesday, Manchester Rotary International Luncheon on Thursday, Poynton President's night Thursday evening and our President's Night on Friday. A very successful event superbly organised by the best impresarios in the business. What a great life being a President!!!! Check your Diary for next year VP Michael and get your dates & diet sorted out earlier.

I have always considered President's Night as the Zenith of the Rotary Year; a time at which it has met its peak, not in calendar months, I hasten too add, especially as this year it was a month earlier than previous years. It is more a case of looking back and reflecting on what has been achieved by all our respective committees and their individual members in the past eight months of the Rotary year. However, that does not mean that we can rest on our laurels. There is still more to do and I am sure that they will continue with that success in the remainder of the year. There is a full calendar organised, not only on Wednesday nights, but also for Social, Community, Ways and Means and International. Please Please go to the programmed details at the rear of the Bulletin and put the dates in your Diary early and support the events. Give as much thought for footpaths and the memorial garden as for the big one with the Dakotas in May.

Last but by no means least the Centennial year approaches the Club needs your ideas to mark the event. Communicate with VP Michael or me by any means you care to use.

Spring approaches and in two weeks the clocks go forward!!

President John

Meeting Reports

A quizzical night

take-over conspiracy ?. Answers by E-mail to Mr. Fayed, Norman's former employer.

There was a good turn-out of 24 members and a regular visitor for a TBA night on 14th January. Also present were two guests introduced as friends of Herb and Sid. (Despite audible disbelief in some quarters they do have friends -although Herb's friend hastily points out that he is really Margaret's bridge partner.). 3 more members arrived after the meal.

Secretary David then reported that he had checked out our visitor's credentials with his previous club, Guildford & District, who said they would be sorry to lose him. Apparently at Guildford he had supported many extra-curricula activities (although no details were given!).

President John then formally welcomed Norman Hogben to the Club as a new member.

We then had 3 Building Quantity Surveyors in a row. What is the collective noun - a Schedule of QSs, a Claim of QSs or a Tape ?. Is it a

The "entertainment" was a quiz night organised by the "Two Ronnies". (whilst Tony dressed in a striped blazer might pass for Barker, Graham Yule does not really have the same physique as Corbett).

90 questions, anagrams and pictures, reputedly set by Tony's daughter, were fired out at breakneck speed together with their answers in a little over an hour. A typical question was what is available in sizes of 3&1/4, 5&1/2 and 8 inches. (No those are diameters not lengths - so think again).

A four man think tank of Kelvin Death, Sam Kennedy, Tim Sheppard and John Thewlis returned a remarkable score of 76 whilst most others were in the low forties. May they enjoy their bottles of wine whilst watching cast names roll by at the end of another soap!

Bob Stevenson still found time to fine everybody present before we departed for home rather later normal.

Connecting Plus-wise

The meeting on 21st January was held in the bar area at Ladybridge Park where, for the first time, we were curtained off from the rest of the world, even enjoying the luxury of our own 'convenience'. In general, the new arrangement was greeted with approval, although a couple of more 'precious' members were heard to comment disparagingly on the colour of the new curtains which, apparently, are not too well co-ordinated with the overall décor for their refined sensibilities.

After the usual excellent meal, during which Mr Malabon distinguished himself by acting as plate monitor for the soup course and was duly rewarded with an extra piece of pie by the grateful waitresses, the Club was addressed by Alli Cortes, of Connect Plus.

Alli explained that Connect Plus is a part of the Disability Stockport initiative and its aim is to promote the awareness and issues of people with disabilities. Whilst much of their work centres around issues of access, transport and employment they also provide an information service and a telephone support information line. In particular, Connect Plus aim to get disabled people out and about by organising events such as social gatherings and trips to the cinema or theatre. There are usually two arranged activities per month, plus whatever members want within the available resources. There are two paid staff plus around fifty volunteers who accompany the fifty to sixty members both on group and one-to-one activities. All summed up by expressing the ongoing need for both money and volunteers.

Little significant business was transacted, although 'Social Sam' did his best to crank up anticipation for the mysterious Burns' Night Safari Supper, which, apparently, is neither Scottish nor African. Michael Lacey chipped in with a 'Burns' joke, which was distinguished by his imitation of our beloved leader, Tony Blair, and Herb "Luck o'the Oirish" Boyes won the raffle. The evening concluded with a round-robin Sergeant-at-Arms, which gave Alan Newsome the chance to settle an old score.

John Thewlis

Those who jump off a bridge in Paris are in Seine.

A Rotary weekend, and no mistake!

It needs a whole weekend to celebrate someone who died ages ago, and another who is still going strong!

Sam entertained us royally (if that's an acceptable expression in this context) at a super Burns evening at the Ladybridge Club on January 31st. It was all there – a splendid menu card with the bards picture, a piper, haggis (naturally) with Scottish beef to follow, and a singalong to Scottish airs. Our very own Scottish Brumite, Malcolm (the Bruce) Hurst, looked resplendent as he proposed an amusing toast to the Lasses in pure Scottish, lapsing into his native vernacular only at frequent intervals! As Pressie John remarked: 'When we do things well, we do them well!' (or something like that, anyway). Rotary at its social best!

Some possibly stayed overnight at the Ladybridge Club, not wanting to be late to wish Pressie John a very Happy 70th the next day at noon. A large crowd of Rotarians, 41-ers and friends of John and Mary certainly enjoyed the excellent hospitality, and all were delighted to be able to marvel at how well preserved he still is after all this time! Long may it continue, John!

'Oh Lord! It's the auditors!'

Butties for all

The normal feast was suspended on February 4th and the young ladies provided us with sandwiches, cakes and coffee. When one looked at the size of some of our members one could perhaps count the absence of a big meal a blessing !

The President was in a masterful mood and ran the Committee Night meeting with a steely, no nonsense attitude. After half an hour or so the various committee chairmen reported.

John Sykes for Ways and Means said that he had not yet heard from Barton Grange how much we would get and Mr President suggested he found out soon. (Possibly he has a holiday planned).

Tony Burch reported that attendance was running at 64% and outlined a proposed away night to the Velodrome.

Vice President Michael prattled on about plaques in the park, vandals etc. He then outlined likely recipients of funds, mentioning Francis House, Stockport Shopmobility and Stroke Awareness Day. Discussion of last years Stroke Awareness Day brought comments about Press Gang tactics outside the Methodist Hall and our new medic member Harry Hill looked decidedly put out at this trespassing in his field.

Tim Sheppard urged those who still had shoe boxes to get on with things. He outlined the slow progress with the Kenyan water filters. He advised that over £500 had been raised for SightSavers by means of members contributing a tenner instead of sending Christmas cards to each other. All considered this a very good result.

Sam Kennedy urged members to bring guests to the President's evening and it was suggested that he had dark plans for the evening.

Tony Burch rounded off the evening as Sergeant at Arms with a hilarious round of fines on all and sundry.

Marc Wolverson told me that he and his expanding family are off to the States on holiday on Monday. Personally, I think he is going as a Missionary.

Sid Davies

A little boy was overheard praying: "Lord, if you can't make me a better boy, don't worry about it. I'm having a real good time like I am."

Watch my lips

24 members arrived on 11th February to hear Past President David Rabone announce that our President was absent with a 'painful rear end'. Much sympathy and shuffling took place amongst the assembled throng. Luckily grapes were not on the menu. Sam Kennedy was in workaholic mode, announcing various details about forthcoming events. We also heard that we are to be entertained by the 60's pop legends the Dakotas (minus Billy J) on May 22nd. A night to look forward to as well as a night to remember lost youth! "Little Children" sprang to mind. Ah- the things we did! (If only we could remember who it was we were doing the hippy hippy shake with.) John Sykes told us about a Scottish Rotarian who was walking for charity from Lands End to John O'Groats and asked us to support him as he passed through our area in June. Great sighs of relief were audible when he explained we were not expected to accompany him all the way! (Bramhall to Hazel Grove sounded so much more achievable).

really brought home to us how difficult it is for those who have to rely on lip-reading alone. We were surprised to discover that 1 in 7 people have hearing loss. The ratio amongst politicians was judged to be somewhat higher by members present, who as usual, applied their natural sense of fairness on the matter. They must have had regular first hand experience. (I cannot imagine with whom). Jan also explained the difficulties with balance that the hearing impaired can suffer. It was an enlightening and interesting address.

Half way through the night David Dewhurst arrived, despite apologies being given for his absence. Whilst we were all delighted to see him in good health, I could not help remarking that he had turned up looking like the American actor Red Buttons, preparing for the lead role in the new film, 'The Life of Acker Bilk'. Our intelligence that he was not coming was obviously supplied by an MI6 agent based in Iraq! A good meal as usual rounded off a very interesting and pleasant evening. Roll on the Dakotas!

Guest speaker Jan Kenworthy gave an excellent talk on lip-reading. She

Stephen Day

A Sunday school teacher asked her children, as they were on the way to church service, "And why is it necessary to be quiet in church?" One bright little girl replied, "Because people are sleeping."

Macmillan Cancer Relief -18th February

22 members and Phil Todd, a guest of Bob Stevenson and known to many from Festival days, enjoyed a meal of "Nice and Spicy Chilli Con Carne" - to which the Vice- President elect added a slice of pork. (Well he is a big lad and needs to keep his strength up).

Our speaker for the evening was Amy Wilson, a fund raiser for Macmillan Cancer Relief. Whilst the charity is best known for its nurses who assist cancer sufferers and their families in their own homes, she described the wide range of services they are now able to provide. These vary from grants to someone who needs additional or special clothing to a 24 hour, seven days a week, help-line. Starting from a few donations in 1911 the charity is now worth £68 million.

Amy herself had been involved in fund raising for a new consultation and treatment centre in Macclesfield. This had cost £1.5 million of which about £1.0 million had already been raised. She thanked Rotarians who had helped with collections at Handforth Green before Christmas, which had raised over £3000 in one day, the highest of any collection point in the country.

After an animated discussion Kelvin proposed a vote of thanks to Amy and presented her with a cheque for £100.

During a short business session Kelvin reminded members that it is Stroke - Awareness Day on Saturday 3rd April and as many helpers as possible would be needed to run the blood pressure testing centre in Centrepoint.

Our Vice-Chairman persuaded most members to part with 50p before we drove home on a very mild evening.

How to win a rugby cup – well almost!

At 1950 hours on Wednesday 25th February the bar at the Ladybridge Club had only Graham Vine, his guest Jim Thomas and the writer present. It was suggested that perhaps we had the wrong date. Then President John appeared followed by a stampede of motley characters; it was suggested that a 52-seater coach had just arrived.

“All’s well that ends well”. After the usual tasty meal we had an entertaining talk by an accomplished local artist Tony Coupe. Backed by a display of some of his wonderful work he gave us brief account of his early days as a textile designer. He had been more or less directed into this career by the Principal of the Oldham School of Art. Among his exhibits were two superb paintings of Concorde. A man of many parts he explained that he was also interested in model ships, both to paint and to operate. He said that he had to be in the mood to paint and he always had classical music playing in his studio. President John and all present were delighted when he presented the Club with a limited edition print of the Cup flanked by Martin Johnson and Jonny Wilkinson.

(Whilst I wouldn't dare admit it publicly, I had to ring the Belgian Consul to ask the above names as, being Welsh, they could as well be astronauts).

Our esteemed Vice President gave us another talk (some described it as a vote of thanks).

Following very brief reports from committee chaps, Mac McLeod extracted some 50p's from some members.

Paul Ridgway was reported to be in very good spirits; he was continuing to have treatment. Sam urged members to bring guests to the "shindig" on Friday at the Hunting Lodge. Whilst the more alcoholic members hastened to the bar, the more henpecked amongst us scuttled off into the night.

Sid Davies

Presidential praise (as performed at President's Evening)

If you wish to sing along, try the melody of 'la Donna y Mobile'. A trio of Kelvin, John Thewlis and Harry also tried, ably conducted by maestro Hans Fritz Dewhurst.

The archives live again!

Kelvin & Barbara recently "wished upon me" some Archives kept by Douglas Murphy (was this a Council decision?). Coupled with the recent influx of new members I thought it might be of interest to see how many members we have had in the past 17 years - little realising how long it would take!

I have compiled the list largely from the back page of the Bulletins (of which I have about 90%), some meeting reports and listings on the back of programmes. However the Bulletin lists didn't start until late 88 so there is lack of information from Sept 86 to late 88. I hope it is accurate but you may know better - and will no doubt tell me so! The list totals 72 with a present membership of 37 which is a record.

Rotary wives

February night out

We girls did not meet in January – either the organisers were poorly, on holiday or forgot. If the latter, here is our future list:

March	Wendy and Sue
April	Kate and Kay
May	Mary and Jackie
June	Frances and Marilyn
July	Sally and Pam Lacey

Even our President's wife had to ask the other evening, who was on duty next!

For this February's meeting, it was decided by your two oldest stalwarts, to arrange an easy option – so it happened that we visited Parrs Wood cinema to see 'Girl with a Pearl Earring'. Then we thought, for those who don't have to cook a meal for their husbands on such an occasion, why don't we have a snack in Bramhall before we go.

So half the party met at 6.30 in San Georgio's for a pizza or something very Italian. The 'whole' assembled at Parrs Wood followed by the film – the events of which happened in the 1660s, which led to the creation of one of Vermeer's most famous paintings. The show was on the slow side. In fact Sue reckoned that the dialogue would have been easy to learn, there was so little of it. We did experience periods of nothing (Ed: senior moments, perhaps!), lip licking, a lot of looking down – it was all so relaxing! There must have been something going for it, as I did not even go to sleep, and I do know a lot about that one earring now.

As 'THE END' showed up, our party sat on, as if we hadn't had enough. Fortunately Mary had read the book, so she was able to inform us that Gret married The Butcher's Boy. So all must have ended up with a smile on their faces, which we had not had a lot of during the show.

We all wished Sue and Lynda a great holiday on their New Zealand Experience, and we look forward to 'them all' on March 22nd at 7.30 in the Church Inn – at least it's not three times in one week!

Love from Kath and Hilda
